GENE TUNNEY KEEPS CROWN ON HIS HEAD

Jack Dempsey Unable to Relieve Fighting Marine of World's Heavyweight Championship

MANASSA MAULER CROGGY IN TENTH

Champion Has Close Call in Seventh Round When Heavy Slugger Knocks Him Down

SOLDIERS FIELD, Chicago, Sept. 22.—Gene Tunney, the man of destiny, is still heavyweight champion of the world, but his crown was perilously close to being toppled from his head tonight by the gallant thrust of the old warrior, Jack Dempsey, in the greatest boxing spectacle of all time.

Tunney's hand was raised in victory at the end of a smashing, smashing battle, but only because he had the courage and fighting power for a sensational finish after being knocked down for a count of ten in the seventh round by Dempsey's vicious two-handed attack.

ONE SECOND FROM VICTORY

Only one second, in the seventh round, separated Dempsey from the greatest victory of his career, and an achievement no other ex-champion had ever recorded, but Tunney, back on his feet, slipped from range, cleared his head and weathered as stormy a session as he has ever experienced. Safely past that crisis, Tunney finished in the last three rounds like a champion, regained confidence, taking the offensive and beating Dempsey into defeat with a two-handed, well-timed attack to the head. With his title in danger, Tunney had the stuff to put on a victorious rally. At the close of the final round, Dempsey, both eyes out and badly bleeding, was groggy and reeling, "out on his feet." So battered was the champion, his last charge expended, that he did not seem to know the battle was over and had to be led to his corner.

COUNT LONG?

Tunney's victory was not without its dispute, however, for there were scores in the ringside section who thought the champion was saved from losing his crown in the seventh round by a count that was actually several seconds longer than the toll of nine.

It was unquestionably a "long count," from twelve to fourteen seconds in all, to take the varying count of ringside observers—but its explanation lay in the fact that Illinois boxing rules compelled the fighter scoring the knockdown to go to his corner before the count started. The time elapsing during Dempsey's backing off to a corner accounted for the late start of the count, boxing commissioners explained.

Tunney took the count with his left hand holding the ropes. He was groggy and in bad shape but fully conscious of the count. Had he started sooner he probably would have been able to regain his feet, but he might have been wobbling and in easy target. As it was he had the advantage of the few seconds' added rest and a chance to collect his faculties and ward off Dempsey's attack.

The mightiest throng in fight history, estimated at 50,000, the record-smashing sum of $2,800,000 to see the handsome ex-marine weather the spectacular challenge of the old nautic and to defeat, as convincingly, if not as decisively, the man whom Gene took the crown from a year ago in the rain at Philadelphia.

BETTER MAN WON

Victory unquestionably went to the better man, the crafty boxer, the faster and stronger fighter, but it was his only after the closest call ever had had.

The drama of Tunney's title defence, stirring as was his decline, was enacted principally in the seventh round. For it was here that the flashing old fighting spirit of Dempsey, making his comeback, came so close to accomplishing the unprecedented.

National Conservative Convention Secretary

MR. GEORGE F. PERLEY
Of Ottawa, who is the general secretary of the national conservative convention, is to be held in Winnipeg on October 10.

TEN GOOD YEARS ARE PREDICTED

General Manager of Dominion Bank States Country Can Look Forward to Period of Prosperity

PROPHECY APPLIES TO EAST AND WEST

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22.—That he had never seen general business conditions more favorable in many years, was the opinion expressed to-day by Mr. C. A. Bogert, general manager of the Dominion Bank, who is here on a tour of inspection.

That pertains to Ontario and Quebec as well as the West, he said. "The strengthening out of our deflation difficulties due to the post war slump was cleared up a year or two ago, and we can now look forward to a period of ten years steady progress and prosperity as far as anybody can foresee."

Referring to the formation in the United States of a trust to invest in Canadian bank stocks, Mr. Bogert said: "It is an impossibility for any such organization to gain a controlling interest in any Canadian bank."

AID RUSHED TO MISSION SCHOOL

Food and Clothing to Be Sent Forward From End of Railway by Airplane

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 22.—William Graham, Indian Commissioner, stated today that supplies were being sent forward to the Beaulieu Indian School, completely destroyed by fire, with a loss of twenty lives, and that these supplies would, in all probability, be sent forward from the end of steel by airplane. Every possible expedient for rushing the supplies would be employed. Owing to lack of information as to details, Mr. Graham said, it was impossible to know exactly what was needed most at the mission. With a view to remedying this condition, an attempt had been made to get into communication with the Mother Superior, but so far no success had been achieved.

In the meantime the commissioner's department has sent forward clothing and food and such things as are most likely to be needed in an emergency of the kind in question. As soon as further information can be had, the relief supplies will be added to if necessary.

Mr. Cahan Not Asked To Run for Leader

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—"I have not been asked to stand as a candidate for leadership," said Mr. C. H. Cahan, M.P. for St. Lawrence-St. George, when asked by a reporter of the Toronto Star if he was in the field for leadership of the Conservative party. "On November 11, 1926," said Mr. Cahan, "I was elected chairman of a committee to organize a campaign for the election of delegates. I have not canvassed on my own behalf one single person."

I do not definitely know how a single delegate is going to vote at the forthcoming convention and I have certainly not been asked to stand in the capacity of a candidate for party leadership, despite what has been said to the contrary."

Bandits Trained

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 22.—The leader of the bandits who shot and wounded the American school teacher, Miss Florence Anderson, during an attack on a train near Acapulco, Nayarit, August 23, has been wounded by Federal soldiers who pursued him. The Mexican Foreign Office informed the United States Embassy today. The name of the bandit chief was not given.

The Foreign Office said that Federal soldiers had been trailing the bandits since the attack and overtook them recently and wounded the chief in a battle in the mountains of Nayarit. The chief succeeded in escaping, but pursuit is continuing.

SOVIET MAY FUND DEBTS DUE FRENCH

Bolshevik Government Recognizes Claims of French Capitalists for Repayment of Loans to Russia

NEGOTIATIONS NOW BEING CARRIED ON

Delegations Representing Both Governments Are Studying Question—Premature Announcement

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Surprise was evinced here today over the reported announcement of Maxime Litvinoff, Russian vice-foreign minister in Moscow, that a complete agreement had been reached by the French and Soviet delegations studying the question of the funding of the Russian debt to France. Apparently the French delegation has no knowledge of such an agreement, and it is declared semi-officially that the Litvinoff statement was "far from the facts." No information was forthcoming from official sources, but it was promised that the French representatives concerned in the negotiation would set forth their view of the situation at an early date, which would "put the affair in its true light."

CAPT. HINCHCLIFFE GETS LEVINE AWAY

CRAWFORD, Eng., Sept. 22.—Friday: Charles A. Levine and his pilot, Captain Walter Hinchcliffe, hopped off in the monoplane Columbia at 8:06 o'clock this morning on a long-distance flight to the East.

The Columbia made a run of about 1,000 yards and took off in hop, skip and jump fashion, rising twice and then bumping the ground before finally freeing itself.

Observers for a time feared the plane would not clear a four-foot wall at the end of the field, but this was negotiated with some feet to spare. The weather was somewhat rainy and there was a thirty-five-mile-an-hour wind from the west.

The Columbia flew into a rainbow as she took to the air, and west, but immediately turned her nose in an easterly direction.

PREMIER MACLEAN SPEAKS IN FERNIE

FERNIE, B.C., Sept. 22.—Hon. J. D. MacLean, Premier, addressing a local audience tonight, said his present tour of the interior of the province was for the purpose of inquiry into the Government's taxation policy; to meet the electorate as was the duty of Ministers of the Crown; and also in a general way to outline some of the intentions of the Government in its future administration of the public affairs. He was glad to speak here at this time when the horizon of the Premier said.

Premier MacLean reviewed the financial status of the province and some of the legislation. He said the P.O.E. problem was receiving earnest attention with hopeful progress toward solution.

AUSTRALIA WANTS SINGAPORE BASE

Melbourne Argus Thinks Example of New Zealand in Making Grant Should Be Followed

MELBOURNE, Sept. 22.—The Melbourne Argus warmly commends New Zealand's decision, as reached by the House of Representatives yesterday, to contribute a million sterling to the Singapore naval base.

The Argus remarks that Australia, with a more vulnerable coast line, has not decided to give anything to the scheme. "At the same time we do not deny we want its advantages. Why, then, do we not admit our inability? It is our duty to give as much as we can," says the Argus.

Mr. Dunning will probably remain in the West for a while and Mr. Robb return to Ottawa on October 1.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—If weather conditions at Ankara, the Turkish capital, do not interfere with Lieut. Otto Koennecke's plans, he will take off tomorrow morning for Basra, one of the city's main thoroughfares, and snatched from him a suit case containing $50,000 in loose stones. After securing the suit case the bandits made their escape in an automobile, which was later found by the police.

Shestakoff thus completed the Moscow-Tokio-Moscow flight covering 20,000 kilometers in 150 flying hours. The trip was accomplished within a month, during which he spent ten days in Japan. Shestakoff is considered one of Russia's foremost airmen.

Hawks, of Houston, Texas, only one of the Class "A" national air derby flyers who had not dropped out had failed to arrive from New York at the Spokane airport. Ore. His arrival, expected tomorrow morning, cannot affect the result of the race, however.

C. W. Holman, of St. Paul, won fourth prize, $1,500; of Chicago, second, $1,500; of Spokane, third, and John P. Wood, of Wausau, Wis., fourth. The winner of the fifth prize is not yet announced.

The unofficial winners in this race remained unchanged today with C. W. Meyers, Detroit, with a $5,000 prize; Leslie Miller, Des Moines, second, $3,000; and J. S. Charles, Richmond, Va., third, $1,000. Winners of fourth prize of $500 and fifth prize of $250 were not announced today, in the absence of information on which it is to be computed.

CLASS "B"

Arrival this evening of J. C. Rinehart, of Portland, and Art Borne, of Los Angeles, in the Class "B" Coast derby, accounted for all the flyers who were not forced out.

C. L. Langdon, of Aberdeen, Wash., won first prize, $1,000; D. C. Warren, San Francisco, second, $500; Lee Willey, Los Angeles, third, $250. Borne, who arrived at 5:20 p.m., tonight apparently qualified for fourth prize, $150, by arriving at 6:50 p.m., fifty minutes after the deadline for the close of the race, lost the fifth prize of $100.

Liverpool Cathedral Sees First Marriage

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 22.—The first wedding in the Liverpool Cathedral took place today when Miss Constance, daughter of Meurig Lloyd Davies, president of the Standard Chemical Company, Toronto, was married to Rudolph Muspratt, ex-M.P., a United States lawyer, and former president of the Federation of British Industries.

A special licence was obtained for the ceremony, as the cathedral is not licensed for marriages. The Bishop of Liverpool, Right Rev. Dr. A. A. David, performed the ceremony.

Diamonds Stolen

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—A holdup occurred in the east end of the city tonight, when two bandits attacked S. Belhomme, diamond cutter and polisher, on St. Catharine Street, one of the city's main thoroughfares, and snatched from him a suit case containing $50,000 in loose stones. After securing the suit case the bandits made their escape in an automobile, which was later found by the police.

City Engineer Dies

CONGRESS TO AMEND RADIO LAW

Settlement of Dispute Between Canada and United States May Be Completed Within Very Short Time

U. S. COMMISSION'S POWER INADEQUATE

Legislation to Be Asked for Giving Commission Authority to Limit Number of Broadcasting Stations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Settlement of dispute between the United States and Canada over radio broadcasting, may be completed within a few months.

The Canadian Press learns that Congress probably will ask this session to amend the act of last session, which placed broadcasting in the United States under the jurisdiction of a commission, to make it clear that the commission has authority to limit the number of broadcasting stations in this country.

Lack of legislative authority has been responsible for the trouble from the beginning. An agreement between Canada and the United States as to the allotment of wave lengths had been in force for some time when certain United States broadcasting stations began to use wave lengths allotted to Canada. It was then discovered that the United States authorities had no power given them by which they could put a stop to this practice, and nothing could be done until Congress should enact the necessary legislation.

GENERAL SYNOD ENDS SESSIONS

ASSEMBLY CONSIDERED ONE OF MOST IMPORTANT HELD IN DOMINION

Organization of Anglican Church in Canada Remodeled and Finances Consolidated

KINGSTON, Sept. 22.—With a quiet and informal conclusion, the General Synod of the Anglican Church in Canada ended today. A little routine business and a short prayer, and all was over.

The recent session has been one of the general synod and of the synod in the history of the church. Perhaps the most important work done was that connected with the reorganization of the church, which is to come into effect after the next session in 1930.

In the matter of church finance, the consolidation of the trust funds of the general synod and of the missionary society into a joint fund is considered an important step.

James Maclellan, Minister of Trade and Commerce, speaking at the annual banquet of the Bread and Cakes Bakers' Association of Canada here last night. Mr. Maclellan pointed out that goods valued at many millions listed as imports from the United States were in reality British imports.

BANKERS REACH COAST SHORTLY

Investment Bankers of America Will Use Princess Marguerite Twice, Before and After Sessions

WEALTHIEST GROUP OF TRAVELERS

With the passage through the city tomorrow of the overland parties of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, one of the wealthiest parties to visit this city will be here for a brief stay.

Three hundred and seventy members will arrive en route to Seattle to attend the annual convention. They will travel to Vancouver in four special trains, and will embark on the Princess Marguerite, which will be used as a special steamer.

The announced arrangements for the party, when the Canadian route was selected, provided that the Eastern, Southern and Midwestern delegates were to meet at Chicago, and the Southwest and Rock Mountain parties at St. Paul, where the special cars would be made into the trains which will begin to reach Vancouver at 9:20 tomorrow morning.

The president of the association, Mr. Phinny Jewell, of Coffey & Burr, Boston, joined the party at Moose Jaw, Sask., the first place of the trains stopping after crossing the Canadian border.

It has been arranged that the convention will adjourn on Friday at noon, and for this purpose the Princess Marguerite will proceed to Seattle on Thursday, and take the delegates on board for a cruise, calling here and at Alert Bay, en route to Ocean Falls, where a survey of the pulp and paper plant will be made. The vessel will return to Vancouver on October 3.

A long list of prominent people are named in the speakers' list, including the Governor of Arkansas, who intends to talk on the Mississippi flood.

AIR MAIL TESTS PROVE SUCCESS

Hydroplanes Take Postal Matter to Outgoing Express—Save Delay Till Next Boat

QUEBEC, Sept. 22.—The second air mail test carried out under the auspices of the Postal Department yesterday, was crowned with success. A hydroplane carried close to 500 pounds of mail from Montreal to Rimouski, which, but for the air mail test, would not have been taken to Europe on board the Empress of Australia. The plane will stay at Rimouski till Friday, and should the incoming Empress of Scotland arrive early enough in the day, a third test will be carried out when the vessel arrives off Father Point.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 22.—The New York-Spokane non-stop flight was a "no contest" tonight, because Eddie Stinson, pilot of one of the two planes that took off from Roosevelt Field yesterday afternoon, refused to gamble his life and that of his relief pilot against the chance of winning first place with its $10,000 prize. He arrived at the Spokane airport tonight in another plane.

Premier Ferguson Endorses Report On Use of French

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—Endorsed by Premier Ferguson, the report of the special committee appointed in 1925 to inquire into conditions in the bilingual schools of Ontario, was made public last night, and its unanimous recommendations forecast the end of the much-discussed "regulation seventeen," under which French is the language of instruction in schools in French-speaking communities.

Permission to teach French is to be continued "through special authority," and the "language of instruction," in the schools, will be at the discretion of the new directors, subject to law.

QUEBEC, Sept. 22.—Premier Taschereau this morning expressed his pleasure at the recommendation of the bilingual school commission of Ontario and stated that should the recommendations be put into force and regulation seventeen repealed, then it would be one of Premier Ferguson's greatest achievements.

SALVAGE LAW AND DRIFTED ROWBOAT

PORT ANGELES, Sept. 22.—International salvage complications over a $100 clinker-built rowboat that was salvaged by fishermen in Juan de Fuca Strait ended here today.

The boat escaped from a mooring near Victoria B.C., and was picked up in the Strait by two fishermen. Bringing it here they reported the finding to deputy collector of customs F. B. Fisher, demanding $15 salvage. Mr. Fisher notified the owner, Mr. J. P. Whiteley, and thought the matter closed. Mr. Whiteley showed up Wednesday with his boat. The fishermen had quarrelled over the agreed salvage and one had gone to Neah Bay while the other went to Seattle. Mr. Whiteley had no one to pay the money to, Mr. Fisher claiming it was a state case. Finally Mr. Whiteley went before court commissioner Willard Brumfield and deposited $15, or as the law puts it, "a reasonable salvage." Going to get his boat he found it had been stored. He paid the bill today and took his boat back across the Strait. Now court commissioner Brumfield is holding $15 for two unknown fishermen, who can get the money when they call for it.

EDMONTON SCHOOLS REOPEN ON MONDAY

At a meeting of the board of health today it was unanimously decided that the epidemic had sufficiently abated to permit of schools being reopened.

London Financier Recoups His Losses

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A romantic story of a financier's fight back to fortune lies behind the flotation of the £600,000 London Public Omnibus Company.

The company is to operate a fleet of three hundred vehicles, linking up seventy existing independent companies.

Mr. Clarence Hatry, chairman of the Austin Friars Investment Trust, and a director of seven other concerns, was responsible for the flotation. Three years ago Mr. Hatry was almost a ruined man, following the winding up of the Commercial Corporation of London, which had a capital of £2,500,000.

Since the Commercial Corporation was wound up he has been working quietly, building up another fortune, and has been concerned in a number of recent important drapery deals. Mr. A. T. Bennett, managing director of the Admiralty Omnibus Line, who is to be chairman of the new company, stated that premises would be taken in West London and garages will be built in the suburbs.

Of the new arrivals 8,408 were from the British Isles as compared with 7,886; 2,503 from the United States as compared with 2,063; and 13,030 from other countries, as compared with 8,571. Returned Canadians during the month totaled 6,561, as compared with 7,269.

The aggregate of immigration to the Dominion for the first five months of the calendar year has been 88,338, as compared with 58,462 in the corresponding period of 1926, an increase for this year of over 53 per cent. Of the arrivals in the months of 1927, 27,202 were from the British Isles; 8,892 from the United States; and 53,244 from other countries. In the five months of 1927, 18,126 Canadians returned to the Dominion to make permanent domicile after having been resident in the United States for periods exceeding six months.

The volume of immigration to Canada in this period was maintained at a rate in general satisfactory. Since that time the movement has to an extent been dammed by a temporary stoppage to the continental flow for which the late Spring season was responsible. The invasion of land seekers and scouts from the United States has been reported heavier than for years in many parts of Western Canada and the effects of this interest will be experienced to an increasing extent in future years. Measures calculated to stimulate the British movement have been particularly significant.

FARM SETTLEMENT SCHEME

An agreement has been concluded under the Empire Settlement Act between the British and Canadian Governments under which they propose to expend jointly a total sum of five million dollars in the next ten years to assist suitable British youth to take up farming in Canada on their own account. It is the desire of the two governments that British boys who are assisted to proceed to Canada to work on farms should be able to look forward to a definite career on the land. Though large numbers of British boys who come out as farm workers do, of course, become farmers, they have had in the past to rely entirely upon their own efforts for the necessary capital to purchase and equip a farm and this may take some time.

The new scheme aims at curtailing this period of waiting, and under it a British youth at the end of a few years spent in gaining the necessary experience and training in Canada and in accumulating some savings will have the opportunity of being placed on a farm of his own under Government supervision. The scheme which comes into effect on April 1, 1928, and will last for ten years, will apply to boys who have received assisted passages have passed through the provincial training centres in Canada, and who were between fourteen and twenty years of age on arrival in the Dominion. On reaching twenty-one years of age the boys, provided they have acquired the necessary training by working for wages on a farm in Canada and have saved approximately $500, will be eligible for assistance up to an amount not exceeding $2,500, for the purchase of a farm and for stock and equipment. No advances will be made to young men over twenty-five years of age.

SETTLERS FOR ALBERTA

The scheme provides for the co-operation of the provincial governments and the extent of settlement in each province will depend upon the measure of such co-operation. The Dominion Government will, however, assume responsibility for actual settlement and the general administration of the scheme, the provinces providing the training centres for the operation of which the British and Canadian Governments make a joint cash contribution. This opens up a prospect to thirty and thirty-five years of age to a definite career on the land in Canada which should have the effect of stimulating interest among British boys in the opportunities open to them under existing schemes for boy migration and new schemes being developed.

There are other interesting phases to the British settlement scheme. Some success has attended the efforts of ex-Premier Greenfield to secure settlers and workers for the Province of Alberta, and the first fifty workers and twelve families and twelve married couples accepted under the scheme have been moving out. All are stated to have had some farm experience and the families to be in possession of capital ranging from $500 to $3,000. Single men have been placed on farms as laborers and families are purchasing expert advice from the ground.

LARGER BRITISH MOVEMENT

Everything possible is being done to further the movement of British youth to Canada and the Ontario Minister of Agriculture has announced that the Provincial Government will pay one-third of the passage expenses of boys from the Old Country between the ages of fourteen and eighteen coming to Ontario farms. Considerable interest attaches to the movement of some hundreds of English college boys to Western Canada for the harvest season, arranged by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Universities and colleges in every part of the British Isles are represented and Canada should benefit by the disseminated experiences of these youths on their return.

Apparently a better groundwork is being laid for a British agricultural movement in the future. The London Times, commenting on the new scheme under the Empire Settlement Act, says: "High expectations are founded on it." and The Chronicle that "it looks like a hopeful scheme." In the present year

The 3,000-family settlement scheme will reach its conclusion, and at June 30, 2,756 families from the British Isles had settled in the Dominion under this plan. According to figures from London in the first half of 1927, British to leave for Canada numbered 22,801, compared with 15,816 in the same period of 1926, an increase of nearly 43 per cent.

Through the first half of the battle Tunney had boxed coolly and cautiously, shooting only when he saw his target and shooting accurately, while Dempsey, always going in, found himself brought up time after time by jolting rights to the head or smart left jabs.

Once or twice Jack had lashed out with smashing body blows that hurt the champion, but there was little warning of what was impending when the former champion suddenly launched a vicious drive to the head in the seventh round. Perhaps Tunney was off guard, for his foe had aimed his attack previously at the body. But at any rate, Dempsey connected solidly with a series of staggering smashes.

A right hand to the jaw sent Tunney back to the ropes, sagging at the knees. He was on his way down when a left hook clipped him and completed the job.

PANDEMONIUM REIGNS

Pandemonium was loose in the vast arena. Men and women screamed as Dempsey stood menacingly over his fallen foe and then moved to a corner.

Slowly the timekeeper began his count. It was inaudible to those in the first row, but it finally was made out by the form of the timekeeper's mouth as he took up the toll. "Six, seven, eight, nine." It went and there was "ten." It seemed on the timekeeper's lips as Gene slowly crawled to his feet and backed off, a dazed and surprised look in his eyes. This was a new experience for the champion. He had felt confident of his defence, but it had been pierced by the tigerish attack of the old Dempsey.

Alone in the ring Tunney circled, dancing and dodging to avoid such another punishment. Dempsey followed, sure of himself, but seemingly puzzled as to how to take up the attack again. "Come on and fight," Jack beckoned, stopping in his tracks and dropping his gloves as he looked disdainfully at the retreating figure of the champion.

Finally Jack leaped and lashed Tunney about the head again, but now the champion's head had cleared. He was in a shamble, making himself again. He tied up the challenger in a clinch and the bell saved him from further damage.

"Come on, Jack," the crowd yelled, as Dempsey, bobbing and weaving, came out of his corner for the eighth round. Tunney, worked over feverishly and freely administering with smelling salts between rounds, was still cautious, wary against taking a further taste of Dempsey's dynamite.

HAD SHOT BIG BOLT

Big Dempsey, it seemed, had shot his big bolt, made his main bid for the title. The fact that it had failed seemed to sap something of the fury of his spirit. He seemed slower.

Regaining confidence, Tunney was quick to seize the lead again. Before the round was half over, Gene had opened a gash over Jack's right eye.

Dempsey went to one knee partly slipping and partly from the effect of a right to the chin. But he was up and back at his foe without taking a count.

Tunney, the younger and stronger of the two, kept up his finishing attack in the ninth and tenth rounds, frustrating any counter drive of consequence by Dempsey and directing an accurate, punishing fire to the head.

In the ninth Dempsey's left eye was severely cut. Blood streamed down both sides of his face. He was a gory figure resembling the beaten man now of a year ago.

Throughout the tenth Tunney slashed and ripped his foe. Dempsey landed one right, a hard smash to the head, that sent Tunney back on his heels, but it was only the wild yell of a fighter whose biggest gun had been spiked.

CREATION THEORY IS UNDER ATTACK

Columbia University Professor Questions Views of Sir Oliver Lodge

NORWALK, Conn., Sept. 22.—Dr. Michael I. Pupin, professor of electro-mechanics in Columbia University, expressed sharp difference with the theory of the existence of the ether itself had advanced by Sir Oliver Lodge before the British Association for the Advancement of Science here recently.

"Sir Oliver Lodge's ether," commented the Columbia physicist, when he had read the account of the British scientist's address. "He has it doing wonderful things. But I don't believe it does them."

Professor Pupin countered the central point of Sir Oliver Lodge's theory that electrons, of which the whole physical universe is composed, are cavities formed in the energetic, swirling substance of the ether, with the assertion that that was a daring hypothesis, for which there was not a particle of supporting evidence, and that the theory of the existence of the ether itself had failed to explain the phenomena for whose explanation it was invented. The professor did not categorically deny the existence of the ether, but he described how the modern theory of the radiation of light and electricity, which ignores the ether, has been supported by repeated experiments.

SPIRITUAL REALITIES

Professor Pupin took issue also with the statement of Sir Oliver Lodge that physical scientists were tempted to treat their field as "comprehensive of all reality." He asserted his own strong belief that there is a world of spiritual realities as distinct from the world of physical realities. And his own explanation of how electrons came into being was this:

"I do not know, but I believe they were created by God. And if you ask me why He created them, I would say that He created them for the purpose of supplying building stones for the construction of the physical universe, including the earth and all organic life upon it."

Taking up Sir Oliver Lodge's theory of the formation of the electrons, the granules of electricity which scientists now agree compose the atoms, Professor Pupin said: "Sir Oliver Lodge makes a decision and that it is capable of supplying practically inexhaustible amounts of energy."

"Sir Oliver's ether is therefore endowed with attributes which we associate with ordinary matter, because he claims that it is not only dense, but also elastic since, according to him, it can be strained.

Sir Donald Mann Visions Stewart as Terminus of New Continental Railway

Man Who Helped Rock Cradle of Dominion in Its Infancy Believes New Line Would Be Factor in Preserving the Supremacy of English-Speaking People of America

Discussing the business outlook recently, Sir Donald Mann expressed the belief that Canada was on the threshold of an era of unparalleled progress and prosperity. Sir Donald being one of the Empire builders who rocked the cradle of the Dominion in its infancy and who has done so much, some say more, than any other to make Canada what is to be, ought to have a clearer vision of his country's future than most others.

"In the winter of 1879," said Sir Donald, "I hewed the timbers in the primeval forest to build the first railroad bridge in Western Canada between the Great Lakes and the Pacific."

"The bridge was built on the ice over the Red River, and I watched with much misgiving the first locomotive go over the bridge. There was not another bridge between Red River and the Rockies over which a team of oxen or horses could then cross in safety."

"The Canadian Prairies were then a trackless waste over which millions of buffalo ranged. A few scattered tribes of red men, some French-Canadian trappers, missionaries and Hudson's Bay trading posts were all there were from Winnipeg to the snowy peaks of the Rockies."

"India, Australia, Argentina, Russia and the United States supplied all the world's wheat exports at that time. Last year Canada provided more than half the wheat exports of the world."

"It is worth remembering that had not the Canadian Prairies been gridded with railways during the generation before the Great War the Allies would have been starved into submission before America could have come to their aid."

"Men are but links in the chain of human destiny. It is not what has been done, but what remains to do, counts."

OVERLOOKED SULLIVAN
"One summer day in 1893, I stood on the banks of St. Mary's River, in the Kootenays, when a very tall, very handsome, red-headed prospector came along and offered to sell me a mine for $10,000 that he had just discovered. He was one of the Sullivan clan from Banntry Bay, Ireland, and he had come to the Kootenays that year chasing fortune, and he had found it twenty miles west of where I met him. There was not a railway within hundreds of miles and little prospect of one, as I did not buy. That mine is now earning net profits of $12,000,000 a year for the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company."

"Less than twenty years ago when we succeeded in financing the construction of the C.N.R. from Edmonton through the Yellow Head Pass to Vancouver there were financiers, economists and statesmen who called the enterprise madness."

"Now the same Yellow Head Pass line linking mid-continent America with Vancouver is universally acknowledged to be the best and most economic railway ever built across the North American Continent. The Santa Fe, the Union Pacific and every other railway line to the Pacific may expend a billion or more in tunnels and grade betterments, but they can never compete as carriers with the C.N.R. line, for the Pacific from the Great Lakes to the Pacific."

STEWART BEST ROUTE
"But even the best sometimes may be bettered. Before the Yellow Head line to Vancouver was completed I discovered that a railway run due East from Portland Canal through the Peace to the Saskatchewan River would far excel the C.N.R. line in grades and curve and in the actual costs of transportation."

"The route to the Portland Canal at its apex is a thousand feet lower than the Yellow Head Pass and there are no deep rock canyons to be negotiated between the Saskatchewan and Portland Canal."

"From Saskatchewan to Portland Canal stretches the most productive mineral and agricultural potential empire in North America."

"That Portland Canal line will tap bigger and vastly better deposits of the highest grade smokeless coal ever yet mined or discovered. It contains but two per cent ash, fifteen per cent carbon with seventy-six per cent carbon. It is better than the best Welsh smokeless coal and it is much better fuel than the best Pennsylvania anthracite."

"The Peace and Portland Canal Railway will tap these coal fields where are billions of tons above the railroad tracks."

"When a canal is built around the Grand Canyon of the Peace, a short canal at Vermilion and one at Fitzgerald, this coal can be taken in barges to the Arctic Ocean and west into the interior of British Columbia over the Peace, Finlay, Parsnip and Omineca Rivers."

"A dam built at the Grand Canyon of the Peace can develop 1,600,000 horsepower of hydro energy. When an outlet is provided at Portland Canal this smokeless coal of the Peace will have a monopoly of the coal markets of every city and seaport on the shores of the Pacific."

"This coal pulverized and blown like oil into the ships' furnaces will prove a cheaper and better fuel than oil."

"These are the reasons why I believe the Peace and Portland Canal Railway will be the greatest and most profitable coal carrier ever built."

OTHER RESOURCES
"There are 50,000,000 acres of the finest virgin wheat fields to be tapped by this railway."

"Somewhere near the Grand Canyon of the Peace, will arise a bigger metallurgical centre than Pittsburgh and a greater industrial city than Detroit."

"Iron, copper, zinc, lead, manganese, limestone, sulphur, sodium-chloride, gypsum and hundreds of billions of tons of tar sands are all tributary to the Peace."

ergies to intensive livestock, dairy and poultry production, the colored races will submerge the white just as the dusky sons of the Arabian misery have the American wastes of Tartary submerged the Roman Empire."

"Before this century ends Canada should have a population of 150,000,000 or 200,000,000 if the white man's civilization, institutions and culture are to survive."

"Russia is sinking into primordial savagery and half the white people of Europe are bent into warring factions, creeds, classes and parties. Appalling national hatreds and semi-starvation are blasting the white man's hopes of order."

"All this is known to those who have eyes to see and ears to hear and a brain to comprehend what the various cross currents now sweeping the world mean."

MUST SAFEGUARD CONTINENT
"I hope to see the North American continent preserved and safeguarded for the white man's institutions and culture. That is why I believe Canada and the United States should combine to run our motor roads and railways through the Canadian Northwest to the Behring Sea. That is why Canada and America should have strategic naval bases at the Western end of Alaska and at Portland Canal. Portland Canal can be made the greatest military, naval and air base ever constructed. It is a thousand miles nearer Japan and Manila than Seattle. It is nearer to the Great Lakes than Seattle by rail. The west side of this great naval and military base is American territory, the east side Canadian."

"In any future conflicts between the colored and white the English-speaking people of all races and nationalities must hang together. Any other course spells destruction. All the vacant lands and empty spaces in Australia and North America should be filled up as speedily as possible with people of the white race."

"The reason is perfectly obvious to any thinking man who looks at the omens in the skies across the Pacific. The tens of millions in Europe whose vision, usefulness and efficiency are blighted by race, class, party and creed hatreds, are too blind to see the omens in Oriental skies, in Darkest Africa and in Russia."

"Even in America there are apostles of race suicide and of race hatred who do not see that colored peoples are multiplying far faster than white people and that the efficiency of the colored in agriculture, in manufacture, in transportation, in thrift and in war is increasing at a most dangerous rate."

A GREAT LIFE'S WORK
"I am in the sunset of life and have no fear of Armageddon, and I am not worried about what will happen when I am gone beyond the Great Divide. Yet I cannot help wondering whether the fathers and mothers of today have any thought of the great and fateful problems which their children and grandchildren will have to face."

"There is an old saying—old, I believe, as Ancient Greece—that 'Those the gods love die young.' I am glad that I did not die young, for I have a whole world of things to be thankful for and I believe my work is not finished. But I would like to see every Canadian trained and educated to believe and to know that Canada is the one country on this earth that can do more than any other, not excepting the United States, to save Christendom from the Armageddon which threatens the human race."

WHITES MUST COMBINE
"If the white races will not combine and co-operate to develop the vacant agricultural lands of the world, and if they do not turn to the intensive cultivation of every acre of land in the white man's territory, and if they do not devote their en-

COLORED RACES INCREASE
"Fools and dreamers advocate race suicide to avoid famine and unspeakable wars and woes. But colored races abhor race suicide and the colored are becoming more efficient and, proportionately, more numerous year by year than the whites."

"During my lifetime British India has increased its population from 150,000,000 to 320,000,000, an increase of 170,000,000."

"Japan has grown from 30,000,000 into a most efficient empire of 120,000,000."

"The United States has grown from 25,000,000 to 120,000,000. There will be a billion of brown and yellow people on the Asiatic side of the Pacific when the schoolboys of today are guiding the destinies of nations."

"Where will these teeming Orientals find food, scope, work and homes? Are they to die, as Swift said, like rats in their holes?"

"India is making more rapid strides than many European nations and in another thirty or forty years it will have a billion people. Science has doubled the length of human life and the population of the globe in my own lifetime, and science must now find a way to feed, clothe and house five billion before this century ends."

CROPS REPORTED GOOD IN NORTH
Attorney-General Manson Says Weather Conditions Were Favorable for Harvesting

While there has been considerable trouble in saving the field crops in the southern parts of the province owing to the rains that prevailed a few weeks ago, it would appear that the territory along the line of the Canadian National Railways through Central British Columbia was largely immune.

Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, who has only recently returned from Omineca, which he represents in the Legislature, reports that in that part of the province the crops had not suffered to the same extent with rain. There was a splendid yield, he said, and the harvesting of the grain was attended with favorable weather.

Coming south through the Interior Mr. Manson said that the first rain encountered was about Quesnel. The weather had altered later and conditions made it possible to gather in the harvest without serious loss.

OAK BAY LIMITS OUTDOOR SIGNS

Council Aims to Preserve Character of Municipality as Residential Area

The Sign By-law, limiting the size of signs on buildings and lots for sale, was passed yesterday evening by the Oak Bay Council under Reeve H. Anson. The by-law prohibits large billboards on vacant lots and advertising signs painted on buildings, and is calculated by the council to preserve the character and quality of Oak Bay as a high-class residential district.

Under the new by-law, real estate signs must not exceed one and a half feet to a side. Signs on buildings used for the purpose of grocery stores, garages and other businesses must not exceed thirty-six square feet in area. In the event of the building facing two streets the sign may be seventy-two square feet in area.

Councillor Crease, who has been away for three months, was welcomed back to the council by the Reeve and fellow councillors.

Councillors Captain T. J. Goodlake and C. P. L. Money, with Mr. R. F. Blandy, were appointed delegates to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention at Nanaimo next month.

Drawing attention to overhanging shrubs and plants which encroached upon roadways and sidewalks in the municipality, Councillor Crease suggested that residents affected be notified to remove them at once, which the council agreed to do.

Several offers to purchase property put up at the recent annual tax sale were discussed by the council. Those who wish to buy will be notified that no property will be sold under the assessed value.

Application for the use of Windsor Recreation Park for grass hockey games were referred to the Oak Bay Athletic Association.

Councillors Goodlake and Crease were appointed a special committee to deal with a survey of a lot situated at the corner of Newport and Margate Avenues. The lot in question was surveyed fifteen years ago in an erroneous manner and the committee will decide what course to take.

Society of St. George

Members of the Royal Society of St. George met for the first meeting of the season in the Conservative Club rooms, for a social evening, and the large audience showed its appreciation of the excellent programme provided. The artists who contributed their services were: Miss Isobel Crawford, Miss Lillian Young, Mrs. Mowatt, Mrs. Le Fèvre, Miss Ruth Hayman, Mr. Munro, trombone soloist City Temple Band; Mr. Farmer, and Mr. Fred Pitt, accompanist. Refreshments were served, which was followed by a dance, with Mr. Fred Pitt at the piano. Some of the older members also enjoyed a game of whist. Alderman John Harvey presided, in the unavoidable absence of the president.

The secretary, Harry Langley, announced that lectures would be given during the season by prominent citizens, the next meeting to be held Tuesday, October 4, when the honorary president, Dean O. S. Quainton, will deliver an address on "Recent Impressions of England"; also that Mr. A. D. Taylor, K.C., would speak on "Kipling" at the meeting in November. It was also stated that a "Dickens Festschrift" reading would be given in December. Applications for membership in the society were received from a number of recent arrivals in the city.

Transmits Images Over Telephone Wire

FAMOUS BRITISH INVENTOR'S LATEST CONTRIBUTION TO SCIENCE

Mr. J. L. Baird, youthful British inventor, who gave a demonstration of his latest device, the "Noctovision," before the meeting of the British Association of Scientists in London. This wonderful apparatus transmits images over the telephone wire by means of the invisible infra-red rays, and the subject may sit in total darkness and yet his image is caught and carried by this invention. The above picture was taken during Mr. Baird's demonstration before the association, when an image was transmitted from a dark room in Leeds, 200 miles from London to a screen attached to the apparatus.

FOX SHOW WILL BE HELD HERE

Vancouver Island Registered Silver Fox Breeders' Association to Put on Exhibition

At a meeting of the Vancouver Island Registered Silver Fox Breeders' Association last night, it was decided to hold a three-day show on October 26, 27 and 28. The Lieutenant-Governor has consented to officially open the affair, which will be held in the Welby Building, on Humboldt Street, near the Crystal Garden.

It will be an international open show. Already many entries have been received from Prince Edward Island, Nampa, Idaho; Aberdeen, Wash., and from all points in this province. The exhibition will not be confined to silver fox but will include classes for mink, raccoon, skunk, muskrat, etc. Entries have been received in these classes too. Six trophies and many prizes have already been put up for competition.

The association has decided to admit other than registered foxes. Special classes will be provided for Alaskan silvers, Alaskan blues, cross foxes and others. This is the first time that any association on the Pacific Coast has thrown open a show for the benefit of breeders of these varieties. Judging from the number of entries coming in from these breeders the action of the association is much appreciated.

Dressed fur displays by various dealers will be another feature. Expert judges for this class have been engaged, besides a judge for the animal section. Fletcher Brothers have consented to arrange the musical programme.

The directors are as follows: Rev. Montague Bruce, Mr. W. Miller Higgs, Mr. Harry Reid and Mr. N. A. Moore, secretary, of 3265 Whittier Avenue.

SEED POTATO MEN MEET DR. GUSSOW

Executive Confers With Dominion Botanist With Regard to Enforcement of Regulations

Members of the British Columbia Certified Seed Potato Growers' Association held a conference with Dr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion Botanist, with headquarters at Ottawa, in the Parliament Buildings yesterday, when matters connected with the growing of certified seed came up for consideration.

Up to this year it has been the practice for the Provincial Department of Agriculture to handle this work of certified seed as far as British Columbia is concerned, the Federal Department lending its assistance in the matter. This year, however, the conditions were altered and the Dominion authorities took over the work with the Provincial Department lending all the aid possible in the matter.

Several matters of importance connected with the subject of certified seed were discussed, and a better understanding of the regulations which would otherwise have led to misunderstandings was obtained.

The members of the executive of the British Columbia Certified Seed Potato Growers' Association present were Capt. G. R. Bates, president, of Courtenay; Mr. J. P. Carr, secretary, of Mount Lehman, and Mr. W. W. Duncan, of Brentwood Bay. Mr. Cecil Tice, Provincial agronomist, was present at the meeting.

In tests of beam wireless between India and England recently, 130 words a minute were sent and received for eighteen hours a day for seven days.

Work Proceeds On Third Unit Of Development

Mr. Lorne A. Campbell, of the West Kootenay Power Company, which supplies the electric energy for the Trail smelter, is in the city on one of his periodical visits to his home here. He says that his company is now rushing along to completion what is known as the Number Three Development, which the company has in hand. This will give 60,000 horsepower, which, added to the other two power plants will represent a total development of 152,000 horsepower which has been developed.

The great source of use for this power is the smelter of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company.

Both creek crossings within the city limits of Alberni are being replaced by permanent spans this year.

Kaiser to President

Then it will achieve wonders and the brave men to whom this memorial is dedicated will not have fallen in vain. Then with God as help, Germany will rise again."

YOUTH MUST STAND TRIAL

John Thomas Committed by Magistrate Jay on Charge of Stealing Automobile

Charged with stealing an automobile belonging to J. A. Rithet, on October 16, 1926, John Thomas, eighteen-year-old youth, was committed for trial by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court yesterday. Mr. W. C. Moresby, who appeared for the accused, reserved defence. Mr. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, appeared for the Crown.

The first witness in the case, Detective Phillips, told how he and Detective Stark, searching for the Rithet car on the night it was stolen, had pursued an automobile into Beacon Hill Park. The car was abandoned and had been backed into a tree, when they came up with it.

Rowland Hibberd testified that he had seen Thomas on the night in question in a strange car corresponding to the description of the Rithet machine. He thought, but could not be sure. He had asked Thomas where he got the car and the latter had replied that it was one in which the key was left for him.

Hibberd said that he had decided to leave Thomas then. In doing so he had passed the two detectives in the car. Driving past him, the accused had called out to Thomas, "For—sake hurry up! The 'dicks' are after you!"

Cross-examined by Mr. Moresby as to whether the police had threatened him or held out any inducements for him to tell the story, Hibberd replied, "They said one or two things that I didn't feel very comfortable about."

REPORTS SHOW GOOD PROGRESS

Victoria Grass Hockey Club Has Successful Season—Dean Quainton Is Elected President

LOCALS CAPTURE O. B. ALLAN CUP

A year of encouraging progress was indicated by the reports of the officers at the annual meeting of the Victoria Grass Hockey Club, held in the Old Christ Church Schoolroom on Wednesday, with Dean Quainton presiding.

Mr. W. H. Wilson, captain of the men's hockey, reported much interesting news about the club during the year, with a good turnout at the practice and a good record in matches with other clubs. Out of six matches four were won and two lost, the latter being against teams representing Duncan and Ganges combined. Six mixed games were won and three lost by the Victoria club.

In addition to these games, Victoria again played a prominent part in the Vancouver games, the club being victorious in the O. B. Allan Cup. It was a matter of congratulation, said the captain, that the Island team was successful in depriving the Mainland of the O. B. Allan Cup. The team was lost by four goals to two and the home game was won by six to nil.

GAMES KEENLY CONTESTED—In selecting teams the honor of representing the club was distributed as much as possible, and in the fourteen games played twenty-seven different men played took part, resulting in keenly contested games with low scores.

Miss Margaret Harris, the ladies' captain, also reported a successful year, the club having gained strength both financially and in personnel. There were thirty-one members, who maintained an enthusiastic interest throughout.

RESERVE OF EQUIPMENT

The honorary secretary, Rev. B. S. Le Pere, reported a satisfactory position, the new starting of the season with a reserve of equipment and a goodly cash balance.

The following officers were elected: President, Dean Quainton; vice-president, P. Fletcher; ladies' captain, Miss Margaret Harris; vice-captain, Miss Maureen McConnen. It was left to an election committee, opened by the secretary, the vice-captain and ladies' captain, to appoint the men's captain and the treasurer.

W. H. Wilson, the retiring captain, expressed regret at his inability to continue as captain, though he hoped to still play in the matches. Mr. Clark was appointed to select another member to act with him as captain, the committee to arrange for dances and other features. A vote of thanks to the president for the use of the room for the meeting closed the proceedings.

CHAMBER WANTS RAIL EXCHANGE

Need for Inter-switching Facilities on Reserve Subject of Telegram to C.P.R.

Efforts of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to get the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to agree to the necessity for inter-switching facilities on the industrial Reserve culminated in the decision of the directors of the Chamber yesterday to urge their viewpoint in a telegram to Mr. George Stetten, freight manager of the C.P.R.

Following the successful efforts of the Chamber of Commerce to secure the establishment of a motor freight service between Victoria and Cowichan Lake, the directors decided yesterday to appoint a committee to make a thorough survey of the motor transportation situation on Vancouver Island.

Another committee was ordered appointed to make a survey of harbor facilities here with particular regard to the Ogden Point pier.

Industrial Commissioner A. E. Todd declared that there was a general impression current that some of the residents of the Ogden Point piers. Though not a shipping expert, he himself, held the belief that the piers were too low. The chamber should make it its business to ascertain whether there was anything really wrong with the piers, militating against their general use by shipping. Accordingly, he moved the resolution that the committee covering not only the Ogden Point piers but the whole question of harbor facilities.

Major Pender mentioned that the Panama Pacific Grain Terminal had a lease on a portion of the pier site and advocated that steps be taken to insure that the needs of the elevator did not clash with lumber yarding necessities.

Canadian Gunner Renews Acquaintance on Salient

Sergt.-Major Percy Buttery Gives His Impressions of the New Ypres, and Tells of Visiting Various Memorials

By SERGT.-MAJOR PERCY BUTTERTY, Late Canadian Field Artillery.

YPRES, Belgium, Sept. 22.—There is no need for me to tell over again the story of Ypres, and of all the memories it holds for Canadian men and women. It was with no small feeling of pride, mingled with sad and affectionate memories of those who fell here, that I stepped once more beneath the hallowed soil of Ypres, that I set out for the Salient for the first time since I was trained in mud-soaked Flanders for I was a Canadian soldier in the war days, and as a humble artilleryman in the 3rd Brigade I was privileged to play a modest part in the unforgettable stand at St. Julien in April, 1915. Though the articles which I had read on the New Ypres had always interested me, they lacked the always felt, that personal touch which can only be supplied by a visit to the scenes of those unforgettable events.

Early one morning I arrived at Poelcapelle by train from Ostend. Instead of huge shell holes gaping out of a sea of mud with the ruins of a once beautiful town, I found a landscape of complete peace and happiness. On all sides were long stretches of land rich in cultivation, and dotted with small farm houses and sturdy little cottages. In the fields laborers were at work, many of them, no doubt, men who had recently cast aside the weapons of war and returned to the plow. The remains of pill boxes and gun emplacements almost served to recall the historic past, and even these were almost hidden from sight by the luxuriant crops. Some of the out-buildings of the farms were roofed by sheets of corrugated iron, probably "scrounged," as we used to say, from the heaps of British war material left behind after the Armistice, while the hatched wire which formed the boundaries of many of the farms, was most likely, similarly acquired.

A walk of nearly a mile from Poelcapelle station brought me to Poelcapelle village. Soon I found myself on the road to St. Julien and, as I was soon on familiar ground, for the roads have been preserved, and, except that they have been repaired, are the same as they were before they were tipped open by the German shells. I walked on either side of fields of ripening corn, and passing Langemark, I was soon at the little village rendered historic for all time by the great Canadian exploit. It was with mixed feelings that I entered the beautiful grounds of the memorial to the 2,000 Dominion soldiers who fell there in retreating the gas attack. These 2,000 brave souls lie buried beneath a huge stone slab, from the centre of which rises a column, simple in its grandeur, surmounted by the figure of a Canadian soldier with bowed head, who looks sorrowfully upon the grave of his comrades. In the road outside was a young woman selling picture postcards. She told me her father was a soldier in an Ontario regiment and that he fell at St. Julien. She now spends most of the year at the Memorial, earning a meagre living by the sale of her postcards.

RECALLS RETREAT

My sensations as I walked along the road from the Memorial to the Wietje were far different from those which assailed me when I last traversed a part of it in 1915. Our route lay beyond the road beyond St. Jean and Ypres, across the Canal onto the Brielen Road (where our ammunition column was located) which we had to dig down at top speed with food for the guns. Passing along this road, now so calm and peaceful, it seemed impossible that a few short years ago it could have been such a shambles. I remembered too, how, when the battle of April 22 began, those residents who had remained during the night, along with the Ypres in October, 1914, began their final evacuation. Terror-stricken men and women rushed from their homes frantically gesticulating, and pleading for help. That was the last they saw of the old houses which for years had been their homes. As I stood at this scene of former desolation and despair I recalled the many of the fugitives of 1915 had returned to occupy the neat red cottages which now stand on the sites of the shell-smashed dwellings.

The post-war Flemish child is experienced in the art of begging, and he regards the British visitor to the historic battlefields as his lawful prey. Very few yards from the road from St. Julien I was pestered by these urchins for "pennings." A group of these young mendicants had assembled at the wayside memorial—a small block of stone little larger than an ordinary English milestone—situated on the Wietje Road to mark the furthest point reached by the Germans in their endeavor to capture Ypres. During a pause to try to visualize the scene as the invader commenced the big retreat which was the beginning of the end of the Great World War, I was relieved of all my small change.

The ruins of the Cloth Hall in the famous square at Ypres remain much as they were, but the rebuilding of the Cathedral of St. Martin as nearly as possible like the original is proceeding. The side of the square occupied by cheap and flashy-looking souvenir stalls and a sort of fun fair, complete with roundabouts, etc., the owners of which live in the suburbs, is a pathetic sight. I was shocked and surprised to see the washing of these caravans hanging from a clothesline stretched between the walls of the famous square. It was as if the people were forever to stand a mute witness to the horrors of modern warfare. On the opposite side of the Square is a row of restaurants and cafes where one can get an excellent meal if one has enough money to pay for it, but the charges are about three times as much as they ought to be.

VISITS MENIN GATE

Next day I was in Ypres again, and went at once to the Menin Gate. Surely this is the finest memorial of its kind in the world! On each side of the massive arch are galleries approached by staircases on each side. On the walls are the names of 50,000 soldiers of the Empire who have no known graves. In the Canadian section the list of missing artillerymen is headed by Gunner Craigie "enlisted with the name of W. Warren." I remembered poor Warren well. After our hurried retreat from St. Julien, where we had to abandon most of our kit, Warren was the only one of a party of about six who managed to bring away any tobacco. While we were snatching a few hours of rest in an old barn behind St. Jean, all of us wanting a smoke more than anything else at the moment, Warren shared his treasure among us. A few days later, while he was wheeling driver of an ammunition wagon rushing up to the batteries of St. Jean with shells, he and his horse were blown to pieces by a shell.

Passing through the Gate along the Menin Road, Hell Fire Corner soon came into view, and we quickly reached another spot sacred to the memory of Canadians—Sanctuary Wood. It was here that in the summer of 1916 the Dominion troops took part in some sanguinary fighting. It was here that General Mercer was killed and General Williams taken prisoner. General Mercer's body was not found for a fortnight, when it was discovered, partially buried, probably by the explosion of a shell, in Maple Copse, a short distance to the rear of Sanctuary Wood.

This place of terrible memories is now as pretty and peaceful an area as can perhaps be found in the whole of Flanders. In the midst of what was once Sanctuary Wood is another noble memorial to the Dominion troops, to be approached by a series of terraces, the floors of which are carpeted with evergreen, and at the summit in the centre is a simple stone monument telling the valorous story for all time. From here I gazed upon, bounteous areas of ripening corn, broken only by pretty little farm houses peeping above the golden sheaves.

From Sanctuary Wood to Hill 60 is only a short way, but there is a big difference in the condition of the two historic places. After the Armistice, Hill 60 was acquired by two British officers, who have recently handed it over to the British Government to be maintained forever as a memorial to the British and Dominion soldiers who fell there. Beyond the fact that trenches have been filled in, dug-outs blown up, and a memorial to two British regiments erected, nothing has been done to repair the ravages left by four years of war. Men are still digging around the Hill for those long-posted as missing. I was told by the Englishman in charge of the Hill that when a body is found, the finder is given a reward of ten francs. There is a small army of men digging near the summit of the Hill, apparently searching for souvenirs, but these men, the Englishman told me, are "sprucers." First of all they bury an old bayonet or scabbard, a few regimental buttons and badges, and wait for a party of visitors. Then they begin to dig for all they are worth, and at the proper moment unearth these souvenirs under the eyes of the credulous visitors, who in many cases are ready purchasers.

GOES TO RANOUTRE

That same afternoon I went by light railway from Ypres to Kemmel, and Ranoutre, another spot which will be well remembered by Canadians. At this time this section was comparatively quiet after the experience which preceded it. I saw the position on the side of the road in front of Kemmel Hill and facing Messines, where our guns were placed during this period. Our dug-outs were on the other side of the road under the very tram track over which I had just ridden. One of the sentinels near here was kept by an old lady with two daughters—Julie and Emma. Many of my old comrades will remember our gatherings at this sentinels, and the kindly way we were received by these two girls. If we had no money Julie would supply our wants on credit, and accounts were always settled when the paymaster arrived. These sentinels were destroyed later on, but new ones have been erected in their stead. I called to see if Julie and Emma were still there after hostilities ceased. They had not, but I found that the Canadians are well remembered in this part of Flanders. In the bar was a young man who, as a boy, used to sell chocolate to the troops in the Kemmel area. He told me that the old lady is dead, and that Julie and Emma are hospital nurses at Bailleul.

I returned to Ostend from my tour of the Salient convinced that there is only one way for an old soldier to visit the places he knew so well in war-time, and that is on foot. Motor coach trips will, perhaps, serve the purpose of those who have no personal association with the scenes of sacrifice, but I want more time at St. Julien, Sanctuary Wood, Kemmel and other places than these stereotyped excursions allow.

Mrs. Curtis Sampson Reads Chapter Report

Many Attend Meeting of Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., Held Yesterday at the Empress Hotel
—Work of Order Is Reviewed

The monthly meeting of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held yesterday in the blue room of the Empress Hotel, with Mrs. Hadden Gillespie in the chair and representation of nearly all the Chapters present. A greeting was read from Mrs. E. C. Hayward expressing regret at being unable to attend the meeting, and in her absence Mrs. Mount read the minutes of the last meeting.

The Prince of Wales, through his private secretary, thanked the Municipal Chapter for the flowers sent and the message of greeting. The decoration of the royal suite with beautiful flowers was undertaken under the convener'ship of Mrs. Genie, and the very appreciative of the charming effect, as were also the management of the Empress Hotel, who expressed their thanks.

Notice of the semi-annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter, to be held in Burnaby, B.C., on Thursday and Friday, October 27 and 28, was contained in a letter asking the favor of the Municipal Chapter to change the date of their regular meeting, which request was complied with and the meeting will be held a week earlier in order not to conflict with the semi-annual meeting.

A letter conveying the thanks of Mrs. John Oliver for expression of sympathy and the floral wreath received by the Chapter, also a note of thanks for flowers from Mrs. Jessie Chipman, a visitor in the city. On behalf of the Equatorial War Memorial committee, the secretary wrote expressing appreciation of the I.O.D.E. representation at the ceremony of the unveiling, when all the Chapters were represented by their standards. A letter from the Diamond Jubilee Celebration committee expressing thanks for helpful co-operation in the celebration, and thanks from several persons for the decoration of pioneers' graves were also received, also from Mrs. Flora Drummond and Mrs. Henderson, expressing the pleasure they had enjoyed during their visit to Victoria.

A comprehensive report of the annual meeting of the National Chapter was given by Mrs. Curtis Sampson, and a vote of thanks to her from the meeting was expressed by the regent, Mrs. Sampson was presented with a bouquet of lovely flowers on behalf of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, for which she expressed her thanks and appreciation.

In her report as Echoes secretary, Mrs. Mount asked for reports to be sent to her before October 20, and suggested that subscriptions to Echoes should be paid in at the annual meeting when the Chapter fees are paid. In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. Prior, her report was read by Mrs. Hopkins, to whom the regent expressed her thanks. An excellent report was brought in by the education secretary, Miss Cooke, who expressed great pleasure at the success of the pupils of the South Park School, to one of whom the prize for the Sarah Maxwell Essay was awarded, this being the fourth time this school has won a Dominion-wide competition.

The War Memorial Scholarships have proved beneficial to a number of students who are making most satisfactory progress. The secondary education is also proving of great benefit to several scholars. Miss Cooke had prepared a detailed account of the record of each beneficiary, which had to be postponed to the next meeting owing to the lateness of the hour.

The Chapters were requested to order their calendars as early as possible, and Miss Cooke reported that one Chapter had sent in an order for one hundred copies, and suggested that copies should be sent by Chapters to schools, offices and public buildings as patriotic work. The alleged disgraceful condition of the part of Ross Bay Cemetery set apart for the soldiers' graves was referred to in one report, and in a resolution sent in by one Chapter, which had to be postponed to the next meeting owing to the lateness of the hour.

In her account of the National Chapter's meeting, Mrs. Sampson told of the reports of the work done in Bermuda and in the Yukon. Mrs. Cooke Adams, C.B.E., had read a report of the work done in the United States, there being fourteen States represented in the National organization. The Navy League was giving good work and in regard to this branch Mrs. Cooke Adams told of the reports of the work done in Bermuda and in the Yukon. Weddings

LORD-KILPATRICK
VANCOUVER, Sept. 22.—St. George's Anglican Church was the scene of an impressive wedding Tuesday evening, when Miss Myrtle Easter Kilpatrick, formerly of Victoria, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Edward Lord, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lord. The edifice for the occasion was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, asters and gladioli, an arch being formed over the entrance to the chancel. Clusters of fern and tiger lilies marked the pews reserved for the many guests. Rev. M. H. Jackson performed the ceremony and during the signing of the register the choir provided nuptial music. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Clifford Kilpatrick, was lovely in an imported French gown of white georgette with long sleeves. The tight bodice and the full skirt, which fell to an even hem-line, were trimmed with sou-lache braid and rose and silver taffeta motifs in front; the long waist line being indicated by a row piping. A tulle veil embroidered with crystal bugles was attached to a point lace cap, which was worn in Juliet mode. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lavender and pink asters. The gowns worn by the two bridesmaids, Miss Olive Kilpatrick, sister of the bride, and Miss Gwen Lewis, were of love-bird green georgette and were similarly fashioned along straight lines, having girdles of green moire ribbon. Moire ribbon also adorned the long sleeves. Their picture hats of self-material were enhanced by silver crowns and shower bouquets of sinias mingled with fern, completed the ensembles. Acting as ushers were Mr. Ian Shaw and Mr. Sherwood Leu, and supporting the groom was his brother, Mr. Frank Lord. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. D. O. Lewis, who was attired in black satin with a hat to match. Asters, ferns and sinias were used as decoration in the reception room and in the dining-room. The tea table was centred with Ophelia roses over which was suspended an artistic wedding bell, made of aster, gladioli, snapdragon and maiden hair fern. The three-tier wedding cake stood on a table by itself. Mrs. Lyall Hodgins and Mrs. J. J. Benfield presided at the urns and Miss Marjorie Agnew cut the loaves. Assisting to serve were Miss Frances O'Rourke, Miss Donna Kerr, Miss Mabel Malcolm, Miss Grace Wilson, Miss Hermine Bottiger, Miss Owen Robson, Miss Dorothy Shields, Miss Moggie Belyea and Miss Isabel McMillan. Later Mr. and Mrs. Lord left by motor for an extended honeymoon, the bride's traveling costume being a grey crepe frock, trimmed with poudre blue, a grey coat with black fox collar and cuffs, and a chic poudre blue felt cape. On their return they will take up residence in Point Grey.

FRAMPTON-LOCKE

The wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening at Christ Church Cathedral, Rev. A. L. Nixon officiating, of Miss Elida May Locke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Locke, Rithet Street, to Mr. Eric Roger Frampton, son of Mr. E. Frampton, Victoria.

GENE TUNNEY RETAINS TITLE

MAN OF DESTINY GAINS DECISION OVER CHALLENGER

Jack Dempsey Makes Gallant Attempt to Topple Gene From Throne in Greatest Boxing Spectacle of All Time—Tunney Down for Count of Nine in Seventh

De Forest Reviews Principal Features

Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's Manager, Alleges Champion Was Given Benefit of Long Count When Floored, and He May Appeal to Boxing Commission to Reverse Verdict

SOLDIERS' FIELD, CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Gene Tunney successfully defended the world's heavyweight championship tonight against a sensational challenger from Jack Dempsey when he carried off the judges' decision in a ten-round match before a record-breaking crowd of 150,000 that paid $2,800,000 to see the slugging battle.

Perched on his rubbering table in a dressing room under the huge concrete stands, Gene Tunney ruminated tonight on a new sensation that had come to him in the ring.

DOESN'T ENJOY SENSATION
"For the first time in my life I've been knocked completely off my feet," he reflected. "Jack Dempsey did it and I can't say I enjoyed the sensation. I doubt if it will ever happen again."

Tunney was unmarked by his winning battle with the former champion. Although Tunney thought Dempsey fought a "fair fight," he believed the former champion was intimidated at times "by advice from the referee," and was guilty of reckless punching. Dempsey scored "at least forty" rabbit punches on the back of the champion's neck, and a few moments previous, Gene's chief second had warned the champion to "keep moving to Dempsey's right."

SAYS JACK GAME WARRIOR
"Dempsey fought a much better fight tonight than a year ago," Tunney said, as he gave the former titleholder full credit for a game and courageous battle. He was much tougher, punched cleaner and harder, and was faster on his feet. He's a game warrior, one of the greatest fighters in the history of the ring."

Tunney explained that he knocked down in the seventh round, when Dempsey floored him for the count of nine, with a left hook to the jaw as "my own fault." Only a few moments previous, Gene's chief second had warned the champion to "keep moving to Dempsey's right."

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Jack Dempsey, surrounded by his admirers in the dressing-room after the fight, refused to make a charge that Gene Tunney was given the benefit of a long count.

"If Gene got the benefit of that break, that was one of the breaks of the game, that was all," said Jack.

Then he referred questions to Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's manager, who was violent in his protests over the decision. He said that Tunney was down for fifteen seconds and that Dempsey was robbed of a knockout victory.

"We had three watches in our corner," Flynn said, "and every one of them showed that he was down for fifteen seconds. Tunney was knocked out. There was no question about it. I have a good idea to appeal to the Boxing Commission to reverse the decision and proclaim Dempsey the winner."

LOUD IN PROTESTS
Other members of Dempsey's retinue were loud in their protests over what they regarded as the long count given the champion. Old Wilson, Jerry Luvadis, his little trainer; Bill Duffy, all of them in the Dempsey corner, declared that Dempsey should have been credited with a knockout.

The challenger's face, a bloody smear in the tenth round, did not look very bad after his handlers had taken care of it. The largest oval over his right eye was diamond-shaped and was just at the edge of the eyebrow. There was another slash at the end of the eyebrow. Both of them were old cuts, wounds of Dempsey's thrilling battles.

OUTSTANDING FEATURES
RINGSIDING, CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 22.—The outstanding features of the fight between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship in Soldiers' Field here tonight were the knockdown of Tunney by Dempsey in the seventh round, the terrific fighting they indulged in at times, and the fact that the heavyweight champion of the world got up off the floor after being dropped so hard that he was forced to take a long count of at least nine, then got up off the floor looking for all the world like a beaten man but came on to win the decision.

Tunney got up and used all the

Was Unable to Stage a Comeback in Ring

GENE TUNNEY

skill he had at his command to keep bicycling away from Dempsey until the bell came to his rescue.

JACK CUTS LOOSE
It was a slow sort of battle up to that seventh round, when Dempsey cut loose with a repetition of that "my own fault" flashier left jab in Philadelphia against this man last year, only this time he came even nearer to putting it over.

They had jockeyed and footed around throughout the fight up to now with Tunney showing a first round. He landed hard rights and pretty stiff lefts, but Dempsey kept sliding with these punches so nicely that they did him no damage. Dempsey had a cut left eye, and it was beginning to look as if it would be one of those little things that would not do any harm.

GENE SLUMPS TO FLOOR
The same old weaving and bobbing that marked the other rounds were in vogue when all of a sudden Dempsey cut loose with a fierce, wild attack, only he was not throwing his punches wildly. He shot them straight and hard to the mark. He clipped Tunney with a couple of lefts and rights and then rushed him to the ropes and shot over a right to the body and a fierce left to the jaw. Tunney began to sag and Dempsey battered him to the ropes and landed a right to the jaw.

It looked as if he were out. He finally got himself into a half sitting, half reclining position, and with his left arm resting over the lower rope, listened in a dazed sort of way to the count.

The count seemed a bit long, but Tunney got up and before Dempsey, who had been shoved toward a neutral corner, could get back to him, Tunney was on guard and he began to take it on the run. The round ended and Tunney was saved.

THE "COUNT" CONTROVERSY
Now, in my opinion, the count was longer than ten seconds when Gene Tunney was on the floor. My stop watch showed twelve seconds, but I say that I will say in all fairness that I believe Tunney could have gotten up on a second or so sooner if he had been called upon to do so, but in that case there is a question whether Tunney could have gotten away as well as he did, if he had been forced to drag himself out.

The trouble was that the referee waited a bit till he turned and motioned Dempsey to his corner before that count started. I do not say that Tunney was down for a count of more than ten seconds. My stop watch showed twelve seconds. That, in my opinion, Tunney was legally down.

In the next round Tunney showed the effects of the knockdown, but he kept away from Dempsey until half the round was over, and then he suddenly came to himself and begin to fight again. He boxed and stalled until Dempsey came to him and then he grabbed Dempsey's hands and held.

NOT CLEAN KNOCKDOWN
In this round, near the middle of the round, Tunney glanced a snappy right to the chin just as Dempsey was off balance and Jack slipped to the floor. It was not a clean knockdown. After this Tunney got stronger. In the eighth round Dempsey half shoved Tunney to his haunches and when Tunney got up the referee, Dave Barry, stood between him and Dempsey, because it was not a knockdown.

Tunney held as frequently as possible; and it was mostly Dempsey who made the fight. But there were times that Gene cut loose. When Dempsey came to Tunney in the fighting, Gene held pretty tightly. He held Dempsey's gloves clamped to his sides under his arms, and Jack had a hard time getting away.

TEN ROUNDS TOO SHORT
I'm not trying to make a punch by punch story of this fight. All I've got to say is ten rounds is too short to decide the heavyweight championship of the world.

I think Dempsey lost the fight in the last round. He tired, after he had Tunney on the floor, from his own efforts of chasing Tunney, and he finally stood and said "come on and fight."

He tossed away his advantage in the ninth round and the last one told the tale.

FRENCH TENNIS ACE IS VICTOR
Jean Rene Lacoste Defeats Canadian Net Champion Handily in Two Sets in Exhibition Match

MONTREAL, Sept. 22.—Displaying an all-round mastery of almost every stroke known in the game, Jean Rene Lacoste, tennis champion of France, defeated Gene St. Laurent, Canadian tennis champion, in two sets, 6-3, 6-1, in an exhibition match here today.

Later, in a doubles match with Brugnon, Lacoste gave another brilliant exhibition against Jack Wright and C. W. Alkman, the French pair winning 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. Brugnon took the final match of the afternoon from Charles Leslie, 7-5, 6-2.

Dempsey Was Slight Favorite With Bettors
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Although betting odds generally held close to even money there were some wagers reported on Dempsey's favor. Gene Tunney at eight to five this afternoon. Wagering on a possible knockout by either fighter also favored the ex-champion.

Reaction in betting circles that steadily swung to Dempsey's favor was given impetus by the fact that the ex-champion weighed in at the surprisingly low figure of 192½ pounds. Both fighters went into seclusion, Tunney in a hotel room and Dempsey at the home of a friend, to await the call to the ring tonight.

Crowd Follows Fight by Radio At The Colonist

THROUGH the courtesy of Kent's Music House, a large crowd listened to the reports of the Tunney-Dempsey championship bout last night in front of The Colonist Office. The results were received from Station KOMO, by the aid of the Brunswick Panatone and a C.G.E. Radiola Super-Heterodyne.

DEMPSEY FIGHTING PRAYERS ARE SAID IN EFFORT TO STOP
ASHTABULA, Ohio, Sept. 22.—The Rev. H. P. Dunlop, Chicago evangelist, led a group of followers in prayers at a revival meeting here last night, urging the Lord to "strike Jack Dempsey a solar plexus blow" and thus end the big fight before it begins.

While his followers knelt, Rev. Dunlop recited the prayers. "God lives today and will answer our prayers," he said, "and we can thus block this brutal prizefight, I thoroughly believe."

SHERIFF SERVES SUMMONS ON GENE PRIOR TO FIGHT
CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Sheriff Charles E. Graydon today personally served a summons on Gene Tunney in Tunney's bungalow headquarters in the $15,000 breach of contract suit brought against the champion by Thomas M. McHale, who said he "owned" Tunney's secretary. It had been impossible to serve Tunney until he arrived here today, because his training camp was outside the sheriff's jurisdiction.

Tunney-Dempsey Fistic Battle Round by Round

The Tunney-Dempsey fight last night at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, round by round, was as follows:

ROUND ONE
Dempsey missed a left lunge, falling into a clinch. Jack piled in again with two left hooks to the ribs. In the clinch that followed, he clipped Gene four times with a right on the back of the head. They sparred cautiously, Dempsey preferring to feint for openings. Tunney only came to head jab he came in. Jack dropped a left on Tunney's body. Jack backed away while the champion followed him across the ring with a volley of lefts and rights to the head, close to the ropes. Gene missed an overhand right as the bell sounded.

Oaklands School Lacrosse Aggregation Journey to Vancouver Tonight for Second Game

LOCALS HAVE THREE GOALS' ADVANTAGE

When Oaklands School lacrosse team take the field in Vancouver tomorrow in the second match of the home and home series with the Maple Leafs for the juvenile championship of British Columbia, they will have a three-goal lead.

In the first match played at the Royal Athletic Park last Saturday, the local lads played a sensationally strong game and defeated their opponents from across the gulf waters by the count of 7 to 4.

With the championship that they have long waited for within their grasp the local team has been practicing every night for tomorrow's game and a spirit of confidence reigns throughout the camp. Bob McInnes, the "brain power" of the team and general coach, has his boys ready for the fray.

"We surprised the gang last week, didn't we?" says Bob with a smile, "and we will do it again in Vancouver tomorrow."

Oaklands, youthful aggregation of stickhandlers, have a record which they can look to with great pride. In addition to holding the Gyro Cup for the local school championship, this bunch of first class players of the gutted stick game have the O. B. Allan Cup, emblematic of the British Columbia schools championship, securely locked away in their silver cabinet.

The team which will leave on the midnight boat today, announced last night is as follows:

Goal, Bridgewood; point, Cockin; C. point, C. Chapman; defence, Merriman, Borde, Smith; centre, Duckworth; third base, Miller; second base, G. Chapman; first base, R. Williams; outside home, C. McKenna; inside home, G. Johnson; spares, Armstrong, Partington, Viggers, McMillan.

Tunney-Dempsey Bout Attracts Prominent People From All Parts of Continent

SOME COME VIA AIRPLANE ROUTE

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—By land and air, in special trains and giant planes, thousands of fight fans crowded into the city today for the Tunney-Dempsey affair, jamming hotels and the streets of the business district.

Great and near-great, governors, movie stars, old-time fight kings, industrial giants, financiers and plain sport fans from all parts of the country, rubbed elbows in the rush for Soldier Field.

So fast did they file in one route leading to Chicago that only a proportionate view of the prominent was checked off. Among the representatives of the motion pictures were Gloria Swanson and Margaret Livingston; Joseph Schenck, husband of Norma Talmadge, and his brother, Nicholas Schenck.

Dudley Field, the champion's meticulous attorney; James Coffroth, owner of Tijuana race track; Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yanks, and General A. L. Radioles, Governor of Lower California, Mexico, were among the early comers.

BRITAIN'S NOTABLES
The Marquis of Blandford, son of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, arrived on the Twentieth Century as a guest of Harold S. Vanderbilt in his private car, "Idle Wild." The Duchess of Marlborough was formerly Consuelo Vanderbilt.

The Marquis, daughter of the Earl of Cardigan, also accompanied Mr. Vanderbilt. Scotland's premier peer, the Marquis of Douglas and Clydesdale, was another of Britain's notables.

Walter P. Chrysler, automobile manufacturer, brought in a party in two private cars, and the Harrimans, owners of the Union Pacific, also came in a private car.

Two hundred Dempsey boosters, including Neil Hamilton, movie actor; Vic Donalds, fight promoter, and Gene Doyle, owner of the Los Angeles Stadium, took a special train from Hollywood.

MAYOR BUYS TICKET
With Governor Zimmerman of Wisconsin, Mayor O'Keefe of New Orleans, Mayor Clarence Neslin of Salt Lake, and Governor Small of Illinois on the scene, the political contingent began to show up strong.

Mayor Thompson of Chicago let it be known he would sit in a box seat bought and paid for by himself.

Estelle Taylor, Jack Dempsey's actress wife, was under a nurse's care as the hour of the fight drew near. Quiet was the order about her apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field and a party of friends stepped down from the Broadway Limited with hundreds of other fans, the group including Mrs. Vincent Astor, Robert Mackay, Mrs. C. H. Russell, Mrs. Ethel Russell and W. Lewis.

Others noted were: John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants; Adolph Zukor, film magnate; John M. E. Bowman, the champion's mother; Al Lang, Mayor of St. Petersburg; Colonel Brennan, treasurer of the New York Yankees;

Victoria Cyclist Captures Moody Cup Race on Mainland—Jackson Wins One Mile Open Handicap

VANCOUVER, Sept. 22.—William Peden, Victoria, was the hero of the Vancouver Bicycle Club's annual field day yesterday. He captured the Moody Trophy for the race around Stanley Park, making a new record of 15:13 2-5 for the distance. He finished half a mile in front of James Davies, British Columbia, and Canadian cycling champion. According to the motorcycle officer who accompanied the riders, Peden was going over forty miles an hour going down the big hill. Peden also finished second in the novelty race, and third in the 220-yards dash, open.

Stan Jackson, Victoria, won the one-mile open handicap, in 2:10 3-5, placed second in the eight-mile road race, third in the novelty race, and was just beaten across the line for second place in the race around the park by Davies. Davies, the champion, did not win a race.

French Golf Star Defeated in Quest Of National Crown

Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume, Holder of English and French Championships, Falls Before Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, 3 and 2—Miss Mackenzie Wins

GARDEN CITY, N.Y., Sept. 22.—A little French Mademoiselle's triumphant sweep of the golf courses of the world was brought to a sudden end today in the third round of the national women's championship tournament at the Cherry Valley Club.

After crossing the ocean in the hope of adding the United States title to those of France and England, Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume was beaten by a count of 3 up and 2 to play by Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, American ex-champion, now living in Ottawa, Canada.

REACHES SEMI-FINAL
By winning the blonde links' veteran who last gained the title in 1920, advanced to a semi-final round match with Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, of Kansas City. Mrs. Horn sprang a surprise by defeating Mrs. H. Pressler, of Los Angeles, Western champion, 2 up and 1 to play.

The other semi-final tomorrow, also will pit a Canadian against a resident of the United States, Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, champion of the Dominion, gained a one-up victory over Miss Virginia Van Wle, of Chicago, while Miss Maureen O'Connell, metropolitan champion, fought her way through by the same count in a twenty-hole match with Miss Marie Jenny, a rival for honors in the New York district.

A gallery of 500 persons followed the fortunes of the impetuous French girl and her deliberate, meticulous opponent through as dramatic a match as has ever been fought over these rolling, well-trapped fairways. Although superior steadiness at the start of the match, there were flashes of golfing genius as Mlle. de la Chaume fought to gain the lead and Mrs. Fraser to hold her advantage.

EVENLY MATCHED
Miss O'Connell and Miss Jenny were evenly matched and finished eighteen holes in a deadlock. The nineteenth was halved in 4's, but on the twentieth Miss Jenny found a trap, took three strokes in vain effort to get out, and finally conceded the hole and match.

Mrs. Horn's match was won on the seventeenth hole, when Mrs. Pressler momentarily lost her touch with the putting wand and needed three attempts. One brilliant forty-two below women's par, on the incoming nine, saved Miss Mackenzie from defeat as she was two down at the turn. In the last four holes she was able to gain the lead and hold it.

CANADA AND STATES DOING BIG BUSINESS

Royal Bank of Canada Economist Discusses Increasing Commerce Between the Two Countries

TARIFF ACTION IS QUESTIONED

Suggestion Made That Ottawa May Be Driven to Exclude American Goods Purchasable Elsewhere

Dr. R. M. Marvin, economist of the Royal Bank of Canada, in an address before the annual National Business Conference at Babson Park, Mass., recently, pointed out that trade between Canada and the United States was greater than that between any other two countries. In his speech, which followed Dr. Marvin gave a survey of the Dominion's rapid rise to fifth among the world powers in commerce.

"In a session given over to the discussion of the relation of foreign business conditions and those in the United States, it is particularly appropriate to discuss the time to Canada, the country which purchases more goods from the United States than any other country in the world. During the twelve months ending July 31, 1927, Canadian imports from the United States had double the value of the total goods shipped from the United States to South and Central America within the same period, or they were of greater value than the aggregate exports from the United States to France, Italy, Greece, Spain, Belgium, Austria, Hungary, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and the Netherlands. The United Kingdom alone gave us an equivalent to those made by Canada, and a proportion of what is shipped to that market is re-exported and Canada finds itself the leading consumer of goods from the United States.

"In these days, when problems of distribution are receiving the same far-reaching economic and engineering analyses which were until recently reserved to production, it is a matter of course that careful studies should be made concerning the social and economic life of the consumer, with special reference to his earning or buying power as well as to his present and future requirements in terms of goods which are to be sold. From this viewpoint it may be well to briefly summarize the present economic situation in Canada, giving some hint of the value of the natural resources which stand ready for development, some discussion of the difficulties with which the country is confronted and a forecast of the future trend of this trade—a subject of vital interest to both countries.

HIGH CAPACITY
"Canada is a country slightly larger than the United States, but with a total population somewhat smaller than that of Greater New York. This comparatively small among the nations of the world. The correct ranking is as follows:

United Kingdom... 49,814,000,000
United States... 227,000,000
Germany... 4,866,000,000
Canada... 2,292,000,000
France... 3,857,000,000

FIELD NEAR HOME

"An audience well acclimated to promoters from various parts of the world may be a bit biased concerning the rich, undeveloped resources of South Africa; stories of the new and rich mineral prospects in South America; opportunities to build manufacturing plants in Australia or New Zealand, or to add untold amounts to the wealth of the world by opening up the trade with the Orient. These are all far away and commerce in those directions must, to a large extent, await the building of roads, railroads, the telegraph, the telephone and new shipping lines. A quicker return and a satisfactory profit subject to much less risk is obtainable by the investor who imports or exports where he can find a field nearer home where the preliminary work has been completed but where industry has not yet grown to a point which permits it to make adequate use of the natural resources available. Such, in short, is the situation in Canada today. Such are the reasons for the recent investment of $3,000,000, 000 of money from the United States in Canada and for the continued rapid growth of trade along the 3,000-mile border between these countries.

EXPANSION HEALTHY
"With several hundred million dollars a year of capital flowing in to develop new industries, Canada is in the midst of a remarkable period of healthy expansion. A rising tide of immigration is adding new increments to our population, an increasing productive capacity is improving our per capita purchasing power, and a rising standard of living is diversifying our wants in much the same manner as changing standards of living are producing social and economic life in the United States. Besides being near at hand, the Canadian public is already familiar with the various lines of goods brands and advertising agencies in the United States, since the same publications which have a large circulation in this country are found in the news stands throughout Canada. To a marked degree, expansion of your business into the Canadian market merely involves a direct trade in terms of the goods which rather than the more complex process of embarking upon the new and unknown difficulties of expansion into new foreign markets. But Canadians naturally have a strong prejudice in favor of goods made in their own country. They have expressed this feeling in the past in a protective tariff much like the tariff you levy here. In order to deal with the obstacle presented by this, hundreds of your manufacturers have established branch plants or subsidiary companies in Canada. Between direct importations and the goods made by branches of United States concerns, a surprisingly large proportion of the purchases of the Canadian consumer are brands equally well known in the United States.

"But when we come to study the relationship between the Canadian exporter and the United States consumer, we find a strikingly different situation. In the year ending July 30, 1927, Canada's merchandise exports to that country by $225,000,000. Since the exports are largely raw products or only partly manufactured goods, the United States prior to 1922, small towns along our side of the three-delighted to find health easily within your grasp. You have only to learn to remove those habits which have been interfering with your health. Perhaps you will discover you have been eating too much food. Maybe, in your interest in your life, you have neglected to take sufficient vigorous physical exercise. It is possible that you have been in an emotional rut, and by changing from destructive to constructive thinking, the toxins from mental irritations will disappear.

Have you been searching for health in medicine bottles and pill boxes? You will not find it there. Are you blaming someone else for your troubles? If so, you are making a grave mistake, as only your receptivity to trouble will give it power over you. The Holy Grail of health and happiness is already with you. You have only to reach out and drink deeply to enjoy the health which nature expects you to have.

It is a splendid duty to provide your dependants with funds through Life Insurance, but it is also a further act of thoughtful kindness to ensure that those funds shall be carefully administered.

ADJUSTS ITSELF

"It required a number of years for Canadian production to adjust itself to the heavy protective duties levied by the United States at the end of your Civil War. The severe depression brought on by this measure drove Canada to announce a nationalistic policy of protection combined with preferences within the Empire, in order that our trade should no longer be exposed to the violent danger of such sudden interruption. thousand-mile border had adjusted their trade to conform to their tariff requirements and they were shipping cattle and farm products to the corresponding cities at various distances across the line—New York, Buffalo, Detroit, Minneapolis and Seattle. With the imposition of the Fordney tariff in that year came a second great depression in Canada, and the trade with the United States, as a result of an accumulation of years, had doubled the tariff on milk, once more adversely affecting a large number of Canadian farmers—consumers of goods from the United States. Now the purpose of this historical resume is not to seek sympathy or condolence, but merely to ask whether you consider these moves as good business. Is this exactly the way you wish to treat your best foreign customer? Do you wish to drive Canada to the point where we must in self-defence exclude all goods from the United States which can possibly be bought elsewhere, in places where we are permitted to sell more freely? In general, is it your plan to admit the goods of your foreign customers on as liberal a basis as is consistent with fair protection to your own manufacturers? Could you not in this manner build up your customer's wealth and increase his buying power? No Canadian will ever question your right to do as you please concerning tariffs, but we would like to suggest that not generosity but merely far-sighted self-interest on your part might prevent discrimination against the Canadian producer in order to permit him to become a more effective consumer. Among the difficulties and hindrances to Canadian exports to the United States we might mention reclassification and arbitrary rulings on the part of your customs authorities. When one considers the great expense and hardship inherent in diverting trade from its accustomed channels, it would seem that careful consideration should be pre-requisite to changes in tariffs or to new customs rulings. When you asked us to mark each shingle we sold you, 'Made in Canada,' we said to send you shingles until you needed them so much that you changed the ruling.

LOOKS TO FUTURE
"As your population grows you are going to have an increasing need for our wheat, milk, butter, beef, lumber, paper and other products. We believe that the present large volume of trade between the two countries is only the beginning of a vast commerce which will be of mutual benefit to the two peoples. We should like to increase our sales to you, not so much with any false and untrue notions concerning the effects of an adverse balance of trade, as with the feeling that the increase in the volume of this trade will be mutually beneficial and that the contacts made in the course of this business will be the basis for an ever closer friendship.

"Because of our relatively large resources and small population, we look forward to a period of expansion proportionately as great as that which took place in the United States in the last century. It is our firm belief that the opportunities open to the individual in our partially developed country are even greater than those which are now available in the United States, where the situation is more static. We realize that settlers and investors are flocking to the United States to no small degree in the work and profit of our task, and we welcome your co-operation in building this new North America, knowing that as you make a steadily increasing investment in Canadian industry you will become correspondingly interested in measures making for the commercial prosperity of our country.

"Recently there has been an amazing increase in the number of your tourists who are visiting the various beauty spots of Canada in Summer, or coming to join us in our Winter sports in Quebec, Montreal or Banff. These visitors are spending about two hundred million dollars a year in the country and in the process the Canadian merchant has a chance to sell to the American consumer at retail prices and without the direct influence of either a tariff wall or a prohibitive amendment. Certainly, such visits on the part of your countrymen to Canada should contribute to closer business relations and to a better understanding of the Canadian viewpoint. To any of you who have not visited us, I would suggest that you take the first opportunity of doing so. You will find excellent hotels and motor roads, and a warm welcome. To those of you who have been before, I will extend no special urgent invitation since I am sure that during your previous visit you will have been made to feel at home—as guests of Canada."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

Ponce de Leon started his search for the "Fountain of Youth" by going to Florida with an expedition in 1513. All he got for his trouble was a poisoned arrow. Man has always been searching for release from the laws of nature in order to enjoy health. He has not earned the right to wish to get complaining patients as far away from them as possible have encouraged the belief that certain climates are especially beneficial to those suffering from some specific disease. Occasionally we hear of someone who recovers his health through following such advice. Usually this is because the patient leaves behind some irritating friends or relatives, or because a vacation from regular duties gives more time for play. The relief is generally only temporary, however, as a return to the old regime brings back again all of the old troubles. The great cause of disease, which always is considered to be bad habits. These can be just as bad in California as in Nova Scotia and frequently, bringing the habit of heavy eating from Halifax to California, only increases the disorders which come from indulgent eating. You cannot run away from yourself, and the same imprudent living you practiced at home will invariably continue to create the same identical symptoms in other climates. Of course it is more pleasant to get out in the open air of the South the year round, but with the proper protection against cold and rain, one can get all the fresh air needed back East or in the North.

There is no vicarious atonement in matters of health, and change of climate cannot correct faulty living. You can hire all the detectives you can afford, and their strongest magnifying glasses will not discover in any hidden places the health you have been seeking. Turn your attention upon yourself for a short study, and you will be surprised and

—Passengers Aboard

The Hudson's Bay Company steamer Baychimo, which is being overhauled and painted at Yarrow's Limited, Esquimalt, will probably remain in Esquimalt harbor for the winter. It is learned yesterday.

Arriving from Vancouver at 3 o'clock Wednesday evening, the Baychimo was hailed on the marine railway yesterday morning and will be there several days while the propeller and a broken propeller blade, caused by Northern ice floes, are repaired. Her crew, it is understood, will be signed off at the end of the week and will return to England to remain until the vessel is ready for a trip to the Arctic next spring.

The Baychimo arrived at Vancouver early last Friday morning with 1,500 white fox skins and other valuable pelts and Arctic products, as a result of her trade during the winter. Eighteen passengers, all veterans of the Western Arctic, were on board. Among them were Captain Gus Foellmer, and all members of the crew of the Baychimo, except the carpenter and the wireless operator. Captain Foellmer, brought with him a fluffy polar bear cub, the present of a Hudson's Bay man who trapped it last winter.

Captain Cornwall and officers reported that the vessel had a splendid voyage both in and out. She left Vancouver late in June, was at Herschel late in July, traded east of that point for 1,200 miles, made twenty-one calls, and was out past Point Barrow long before bad ice threatened.

The Baychimo went as far east as Cambridge Bay, where the Baymaud is wintering. There she landed Bishop and Mrs. Stringer. On the way out she picked up Rev. Mr. Merritt, wife and three children at Herald Harbor, 600 miles east of Herschel, for Vancouver. Other passengers were Constable Wilson, R.C.M.P., from Baillie Island; Mrs. Bunchor, wife of a Hudson's Bay

Jones' Locker Is Brought Up Alive

PRINCE RUPERT, Sept. 22.—Towed several hundred feet under water clinging to an anchor, and then struck on the head by swinging gear as he was finally being pulled aboard his ship, E. Kapper, second mate of the halibut steamer New England, still survives.

While making a rope secure where the anchor was fastened, Kapper fell into the sea clinging to the anchor, which dropped when something went wrong with the winch. The steamer was going full speed and Kapper was towed for some distance, and almost drowned far below the surface. When the anchor was brought up Kapper was hauled on board, but was struck on the head. He recovered from both experiences.

BOARD RAISES PASSPORT ISSUE

Better Protection for Pedestrians at Mill Bay Ferry Is Proposed by Malahat Board

NOXIOUS WEEDS TO BE CONTROLLED

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Sept. 22.—The monthly meeting of the Malahat Board of Trade was held in the hall last night with a good attendance. Among the many improvements urged by the public works committee were the opening up of a path to the railway bridge, the making of a footpath along the island highway from the Mill Bay bridge to the ferry; this road now being dangerous for pedestrians in the summer season, and the widening and improving of Halhed Road. The fill-in and delour at the twin bridges on the old Telegraph Road is now open to traffic.

The committee on agriculture reported that the Provincial Police have attended to the matter of having Canada thistle cut and burned. Mr. S. J. Head, the delegate to the recent meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at Vancouver, gave a most interesting and exhaustive report of that convention, and exhibited a stock of literature and general information that will be useful to the board. He was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

The good offices of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce will be asked in attempting to remove the inconvenience caused in the West by the regulation requiring residents here who wish to travel within the Empire to take out passports in Ottawa. The meeting was strongly of opinion that if British subjects have to take out passports to travel in their own Empire it should be possible to do so at the seat of government in each province.

The president, Mr. G. A. Cheeke, was in the chair. There were also present Colonel J. Eardley Wilton, Lieutenant-Colonel F. T. Oldham, Lieutenant-Colonel J. Whitaker, Captain Levey, Messrs. S. Yates, Arnold Morley, G. C. Cheeke, S. J. Head, E. F. West, F. H. J. James, Christison, W. Mudge, Jr., S. Finley, B. Lovell, C. W. Lonsdale, N. O. Alexander and the secretary, Mr. J. C. Rathbone.

MANY TO RETURN FOR VARSITY CENTENARY

Graduates From Distant Parts to Visit Toronto and Take Part in Celebrations

TORONTO, Sept. 22.—The University of Toronto celebrates the centenary of the granting of its charter from October 8 to October 8 next. Arrangements are well under way for a number of activities to mark the occasion. Delegates are expected from every important university and learned society throughout the world. Outstanding Canadians will deliver public lectures in Convocation Hall every morning of the celebration. Some 16,000 guests, professors, graduates and undergraduates, are expected to take part in the opening ceremony at the University Arena on Thursday, October 6. The carillon, which is being erected in the Soldiers' Tower at present, will also be dedicated on that day.

A number of activities are being arranged for the 8,000 graduates who have expressed their intention of returning to their Alma Mater for the celebrations, and certain activities are being exclusively undertaken by the undergraduates and students. Arrangements for these undergraduate activities are in the hands of an undergraduate committee.

SIDNEY SCHOOL BODY SELECTS

Parent-Teacher Association Elects Officers for Ensuing Year, Reviewing Progress of 12 Months

SIDNEY, Sept. 22.—The annual meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school house on Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. J. Gilman, called on Messrs. Rankin and Ward to play a duet on the new piano, which was purchased for the school through the efforts of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The president presented the annual report, touching on the various activities of the club for the past year, which centred chiefly around the raising of funds for the purchase of the piano which has now been placed in the school almost free of debt. The report showed the society to be in a flourishing condition, membership having increased during the year. The financial statement was read by the secretary-treasurer and adopted, and the election of officers for the ensuing year then took place and resulted as follows: Hon. president, Mr. Ramsey; president, Mrs. J. Gilman; vice-president, Mrs. W. Cowell; secretary-treasurer, Miss B. May; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ramsey; executive, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Mounce, Mrs. Le Vack, Mrs. Holdridge and Miss J. Stott.

It was decided to leave the programme for the next meeting in the hands of the new officers. A short musical programme was rendered by the following: Messrs. Rankin and Ward, and Misses Speedie, Thornley and Lane. Miss Florence Hambley acting as accompanist. Refreshments were served by the outgoing executive.

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 20.—At a well attended meeting held in the Anglican Hall last night, the Cumberland Cricket Club came into existence. While it is too late in the season to do much, it was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that an early start should be made next year. The election of officers resulted in Lieut.-Col. Charles W. Villiers being the unanimous choice for honorary president, with Mr. Thomas Graham as honorary vice-president. The Rev. E. O. FARMERS' INSTITUTE REOPENS SESSION

Mrs. McVicker Speaks on Wild Flowers at East Soke Farmers' Institute

The first Farmers' Institute meeting since the holidays was held at Rocky Point on Wednesday evening and was very well attended, twenty-six being present. Mrs. McVicker gave a delightful "ramble" as she called it, on wild flowers, and gave a lot of information that was new to many of her hearers. She also spoke for a few minutes on "Weaving" and expressed the opinion that every home should have a spinning wheel to make all the yarn needed. She was warmly thanked for her address.

It was arranged to send a warm letter of thanks to Mrs. Dunsmuir for her kindness in lending Hailey Park for the fête last July; also to hold two "working bees" on the site kindly given by Senator Green, to start clearing land. The first will be held early in October. It was arranged to hold a concert and dance at Colwood, if the hall can be obtained, towards the end of October.

At the next monthly meeting a hall committee will be formed and a plan for the building of the hall talked over.

Mr. Parker kindly provided excellent coffee.

Miss Mary Billings is a guest of Lady Emily Walker, at Ragley.

Mr. Walker is spending a few days in town, and will return home Saturday.
